

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT THEORY IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR

Aman Khan and W. Bartley Hildreth, Editors

Westport, CT: Praeger (2004)

ISBN: 1-56720-625-5

Bartle, John R. and Jun Ma, "Managing Financial Transactions Efficiently: A Transaction Cost Model of Public Financial Management."

Collins, Brian K. and Aman Khan, "Information Asymmetry in Public Investment Management."

Martin, Lawrence L., "Bridging the Gap Between Contact Service Delivery and Public Financial Management: Applying Theory to Practice."

Kriz, Kenneth A., "Prospect Theory and the Municipal Bond Market."

Miller, Gerald J., Jonathan B. Justice, and Iryna Illiash, "Practice as Interpretation in Public Financial Management."

Klay, William Earle, Sam M. McCall and Curtis E. Baynes, "Should Financial Reporting by Government Encompass Performance Reporting? Origins and Implications of the GFOA-GASB Conflict."

Albrecht, William G. and Thomas D. Lynch, "Assessing the Likely Acceptance of Financial Management Techniques in the Public Sector: A Characteristic Approach."

Kee, James Edwin, "Fiscal Decentralization: Theory as Reform."

Hackbart, Merl and James R. Ramsey, "Managing the Structural Imbalances: Implications for Fiscal Decision Making and Policy."

Johnson, Craig L., "E-Government Financial Management Models."

Jones, Larry R. and Jerry L. McCaffery, "Integrating Theory and Practice: Financial Management Reform in the U.S. Federal Government."